On the turn Dick Swiveller was in the lead, lapped by Mattie. At the quarter the horses were bunched, Swiveller first, Mattie second, Lysander Boy third, Proteine fearth, and Blue Mare fith. At the half Swiveller first, Mattie second, Lysander Boy third, Proteine fearth, and Blue Mare fith. At the half Swiveller first, Mattie second, Lysander Boy, Proteine lapping the Boy, and Mattie lapping Proteine. The Daughter of Blackwood moved up into second position on the upper turn, but she permitted Dick Swiveller to beat har down the homestretch and under the wire by half a length, Lysander Boy lapping the mare. Cries of "No heat" were heard, but the judges put forth in the explanation that Proteine was stale and sore and had done her best. In the last heat they set nor back to fourth place for running. Time—Quarter, 35% seconds; half, 1:10; mile, 2:19.

TROTTING AT ERIE.

The Eric trotting meeting opened to-day. The special purse was won by Boston Boy; no time was given. The 2:40 class was hotly contested. Five heats were trotted, when the race was postponed on account of darkness. Noontide won the first heat, Valliant the second and third and Monk Boy the fourth and fifth. Bost time, 2:41%.

BASEBALL.

The game of baseball at the Elysian Fields yester day will rank among the remarkable games of this conclusion of the struggle. At the end of the fourteenth neither side had scored a run. In the last the Jeffersons made one. The playing of Steedman was remarkably fine. He took every ball that came near him, two of them being very difficult to catch-one a hot liner and the other was in such a position whe in the air as to require him to look for it with the su directly in his eyes and made the only run saved. O the other side, Barker's pitching was of an extraor dinarily high character. Following 12 the score:

SARATOGA RACES

Fifth Day of the Second Meeting.

FASHIONABLE ASSEMBLAGE.

Oriole, the Duke of Magenta, Monitor, Dan K and Governor Hampton the Winners.

SABATOGA, N. Y., August 20, 1878. The sojourners at this popular watering place had another delightful day for their nightseeing, water drinking and visit to the races. The weather was sharming, and the roads for riding about the country were in excellent condition. The race course, too, notwithstanding its heavy condition yesterday, was in tolerable order to-day, and although not fast, was remarkably safe for horses to run on.

Five races were on the card, two of which were take races, the last two of the meeting, the Harding takes and the Two-year-old Sweepstakes.

The Harding Stakes amounted to little more than a walk over for Mr. G. L. Lorillard's grand colt, the dugenta, who may, at the present time, be called the champion three-year-old of America. He has beaten all that he has run against this year, and, in the estimation of his owner, he can give weight and beat any three-year-old in America. The Duke has them. He began at Baltimore in May and won the Preakness Stakes, valued at $2,150. Then he went to Jerome Park and won the Withers and Belmont Stakes, valued at $7.550. The Duke was then taken lick, and was beaten at Monmouth Park for the Jersey Derby, in which Sparian was first, Bramble second from his illness, and at Saratoga he won the Travers Stakes of $4,350, the Sequel Stakes of $1,800, the Kenner Stakes of $4,000 and the Harding Stakes of $1.550, making a grand total of his three-year-old

HAPPY TYPOS.

EXCURSION OF THE MEMBERS OF TYPOGRAPHI-CAL UNION NO. 6 TO ALPINE GROVE-SOCIAL ENJOYMENT AND PROWESS AT THE OAR.

Typographical Union No. 6 was engaged yesterday in one of those nappy reunions which are always brimful of social pleasantness and executent fellowship. It was the annual excursion of the Union which thus exerthem away from the routine of hard work which to chiefly their portion. As early as eight o'clock the steamer Blackbird started on a trip which was nearly a circuit of hanbuttan Island to gather together the members and their friends who had decided on a day's thorough recreation. Starting from Harlem she made landings at Broome street, East River; Dover street, East River; Frankin street, North River, and West Eleventh street, Barges were in rendiness at Dover street and West bleventh street, and had a large number of passengers on board before the arrival of the Blackbird. They were taken in tow, being securely lashed alongside the steamer, and all three vessels, freighted with his reception in England, as every courtesy was a happy crowd of excursionists, including a large shown him, both at Hartingham and the London Gun proportion of ladies and children and abundant hospitable cheer, took their way up the Hudson. The day was delightful, and the broad expanse of the river lay glittering in the sunlight, while the verdant slopes on the eastern bank, the serrated Palisades on the opposite side and all the deep groen woedlands were steeped in the full noon-tide splendor. The delays inseparable from moving so large a crowd prevented as early a start as had been intended, but as the barges were lowed up atream on a flood tide they moved rather rapidly, and the shadows had hardly began to point toward the east when Alpine Grove, the objective point of the excursion, was reached. All the way up the tide of gayety glanded and sparkled like that other tide on the river, and it was manifest that here at least there was to be no perfunctory or half-hearted enjoyment. Everything was thorough and delightfully sincere. The officers having charge of the excursion excrted themselves with a will to make everybody happy, and those upon whom the duties of the floor devolved were assideous in their endeavors to prevent any flaws in the Terpsichorean complement of the textities. They oven omulated that chivalroas knight at Baunockburn who

TYPOS AT THE OAK.

At Alpine Grove the custemary feativities were supplemented by two excellent races in lour-oared gigs, in which some members of the Union showed themselves approved oarsmen. The first race was a mite and a haif up stream, with the following crews:—
Bucs.—I, J. Dutton; 2, F. Sorbie; 3, W. Brennan; stroke P. MeDouell; coxwam, J. S. O'Sullivan, Whites.—I, P. Scannell; 2, W. Macklin; 3, F. Brawn; stroke, J. O'Donnell; coxwam, G. Gatter.
The race was a hip and tuck affair until the last eighth of a mile, when the whites went to the front and won, after a severe struggie, by about a boat's length.

eighth of a mile, when the whites went to the front and won, after a severe struggie, by about a boat's length.

In the second race the crews were as follows:—
Whites—I, J. S. O'Sulitvan; 2, D. Munro; 3, G. W. Johnson; stroke, Wm. R. Kent; coxswain, T. Grynn, Biues—I, F. Shackieton; 2, J. Mckibben; 3, T. Wade; stroke, T. Featherston; coxswain, J. Dutton, This race, which was rowed down stream as the ties had now begun to ebb, was more easily won by the whites, who led from the beginning. All the crews were from the Nonparcii Rowing Gub, at present one of the most flourishing on the Hariem River, and the winning boat in both instances was an eid Cambridge gig borrowed from Columbia College, and which has the rare record of never having lost a race. Handsome gold hadges were distributed among the winners by Mr. J. A Ganoug, president of the Union.

Home Agaix.

The day's pleasures were kept up at the grove and on the homeward passag, but a little below the Patisades some excitement was caused by a man who was folling on a bench in an insecure position lailing overboard and carrying the bench with him. He was quickly picked up, however, by a boatman attached to the barge, and a inberta subscription was made for the inter to reward him for his service. The landings were made without any further mishap and everything thus brought to a pleasant termination.

CAPTAIN ROGARDES.

HIS ARRIVAL FROM ENGLAND YESTERDAY-WHAT HE ACCOMPLISHED ABROAD.

Captain A. H. Bogardus, champion wing shot of the world, returned to New York last night from good health, and bears the honors won in his numerous matches abroad with becoming mod-esty. Since the Captain left these shores, in May last, he has not and defeated, with one exception, all the crack shots of England, and is the event was looked upon as a test of the highest skill of the Old World and the New. The victory which he achieved showed that the Captain could boil his own with the best men that could be brought for ward on the other side of the Atlantic.

The advent of Captain Bogardus in England preduced a greater interest in pigeon shooting direles there than had been felt during the season then draw ing to a close. His first match was with Mr. Chol. mondeley Pennell, 100 birds each, 30 yards rise, for $1,500 a side. It was shot at the London Gun score being 70 to 68. This victory was the subject of considerable comment in shooting circles, and not long after Mr. Wallace challenged the Captain, and they met at the Gun Club grounds, when each off the "tie," a new match was made and the states raised to £200 a side. There was a great deal of meney depending on the result, and the newly made friends of the Captain were compelled to lose what they had staxed upon his success, as he was beaten by 11 bird --- Mr. Wallace killing 71 and the Captain 62. Bogardus attributes his defeat he was deleated in an important contest to a poor grade of powder with which he was experi-Before the Captain left London be pressed a wish to again shoot Mr. Wallace, but ench a meeting could not be consummated. The Capiain's next important contest was, with Capiain Shelly, who is classed among the crack shott of England. The stakes were £2.00 a side, and Capiain Shelly retired at his eighty-ninth bird, having only 64 to his credit, while Bogardus had grassed 77. The satter continued and shot at his full number of birds, killing 84, which stands as the linguest score ever made in England. Then the Capials must Mr. G. Belion, near Birmingham on Saturday, August 3, in a starting match. Mr. Belion considered that he could beat Bogardus easily with such birds, and they shot at 59 each, 30 yards rise, for £100 a side. He defeated Bolton, killing 43, to 87 scored by the latter.

A letter was received yesterday by the Directors of the National Rifle Association from Major General Hancock announcing that Judge Henry Bilton had promised to present the association with a trophy to be used as the principal prize in the international military match. The trophy will be of artistic design and will be not less than $1,000 in value. Genera Hancock approved of the military match, and said Hancock approved of the military match, and said be considered that both the regular army and the national guard of the various States would be greatly benedited by maeting each other before the batts.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held in the alternoon, at the assectation office, No. 23 Park row, a resolution was passed recommending to the Board of Directors the adoption of a vote of thanks to Mr. Hitten for his presentation, and to General Hancock for his agency in the natter. The reports of several committees were received, and the decision of the executive officer, declaring Capitain J. L. THE PHILADELPHIA POLICE INTERSUPT ANOTHER CONTEST BETWEEN PUGILISTS. PHILADRIPHIA, August 20, 1878.

Positiets in the Quaker City have been rather unfortunate of late. Last week the important contest between Murray and Hicken was finally ended by the committed of both men to tail, and last night another little affair of a similar nature was spoiled by the interierence of the blue coats. James Murphy and F. P. Bononue, both young men and light weights, met with a lew of their friends to decide who was the bester man, the encounter coming off in a sociated spot in the northwestern part of the city. Robert Celbert seconded Murphy and one Martin seconded Donoshue. The men fought with blackenet gloves, under the usual rules. They had pummelled each other nearly an hour in a style not very scientific when the poince of the Twenty-third district interfered at about cleven P. M. They raided apon the place, arrested the principals, their seconds and a number of speciators, all of whom were locked up over night. This morning Murphy and Donohue were committed in delautiof $1,000 batilench, and Martin and Celbert were locked up or released under bail.
